The Gathering of the Hordes

A Message from Mentor

Almost 10 years ago to the day the Emperor sent out a scouting party into the Black Mountains. The Emperor had heard rumors that the Orcs were the ones who had been lodging the attacks on villages in the Black Mountain foot hills and surrounding areas. The scouting party was to search for the ruins of a long-abandoned Empire outpost, as the Emperor believed this could have been where the Orcs were staging their attacks from. The scouting party was never heard from again.

During the past decade the Empire has fallen upon dark times: the weakening of its troops during their entrapment within Karak Varn, the subsequent insurgence of the Forces of Chaos into the Empire's border lands, and Sir Ragnar's betrayal at Kalos all served to weaken the Empire's grip on its lands and peoples. Since this time the attacks on the Empire in the area of the Black Mountains have steadily increased; and the Empire has not been able to spare forces to take up the search through the Black Mountains again.

As of late, the attacks and raids on the villages in the foot hills of the Black Mountains have become much more organized, ruthless, and bloody. Within the past two years the harvests have been raided and stolen, and crops burned. The land itself in these regions is now blighted such that nothing can grow. The villages lie in waste, abandoned, and the Empire is growing increasingly desperate for its lost resources.

No longer can the Empire withstand the attacks and raids. Six months ago, in desperation, the Emperor took council with his closest advisors and decided that scouting parties must once again be sent into the Black Mountains.

Three scouting parties had been sent, and now after six months news has returned to the Empire.

Three of the scouts returned with news that their group had discovered a hidden entrance to the outpost ruins. Their scouting party is currently situated in a small forest valley high in the Black Mountains. They are near a gully, wherein they discovered the remains of several long dead scouts from the Empire along with the hidden entrance to the outpost. High above the small valley, on a cliff, sits the ruins of the Empire's outpost. Unfortunately, the ruins seem to be very much in use. The scouting party has seen many Orcs in the area, but have themselves managed to go undetected, thus far.

The Emperor has now sent for his greatest Champions. You will be accompanied by the scouts back to the area to investigate the hidden entrance to the ruins. Discover what you can, if possible destroy the Orcs present, and quickly... the Empire weakens with each passing month.

Be sure to purchase all your necessary provisions before setting out. Where you are going is relatively remote, and there will be few villages left inhabited.

One last thing – There were eight members of the original scouting party ten years ago. They were led by none other than the traitorous Sir Ragnar. Although it is not known why Sir Ragnar turned against the Empire and aided Skulmar in his escape, the Emperor has advised the utmost caution as this was the last time Sir Ragnar was seen before his betrayal, and execution.

Quest Map Guide

The Quest map symbols are color-coded to help you guide the Heroes through these Quests. Here's what the various map symbol color mean.

Gold: This color is used to highlight traps that the Heroes can detect by searching.

Light Green: This color is used to highlight traps and other hazards that the Heroes can neither see nor detect by searching.

Dark Green: This color is used to highlight monster symbols. See the Monster Chart for actual symbols.

In each Quest, notes prefaced with a capital letter correspond to a matching letter location on the Quest map.

The Court of the Emperor

Your flight to the surface was swift, and without incident. The remaining Orcs were in disarray, or trapped behind cave-ins. At the Summit your party quickly hurried down the snow-covered slopes, watching the highest peaks as well as the Chaos Spire, crumble into the mountain.

Upon your return to the Emperor's court you learn the final outcome of the Horde's attacks upon the Empire.

As the Empire was in desperate need during the last month, your band of Heroes have struck the fatal blow to the Black Orcs, as well as loosening their grip on the lesser Orc and Goblin Clans. As news of your attacks on the Black Orcs strongholds and their lair in the World Edge Mountains spread through the Clans many of their weaker factions broke from the Horde and took to hiding from their brutish Black Orc Masters. Much of the looted and stolen harvests were since recovered.

As reward for your collective efforts and victory in the name of the Empire, the Emperor bestows upon each of you the title of Lord, and has granted each of you with lands within the Empire's borders.

It seems unlikely, for the moment, that there will be any further threat from the remaining Orc or Goblin Clans. You may now rest easy as Lords of the Empire!

The Emperor has also suggested that the commissioning of the construction of your own strongholds on the Empire's lands would be of benefit – as new burgeoning Heroes from within the Empire, and beyond, will doubtless come to you all, looking for leadership and guidance!

Quest 1

In the footsteps of Sir Ragnar

The Emperor has requested that you investigate a site that some of the Empire's troops discovered several weeks ago, high in the Black Mountains. Traveling from separate locations, the Wizard is the first of your party who has reached the forest gully where the Emperor's troops stand guard near the entrance to a abandoned tunnel. At the entrance lies the remains of several of the Emperor's Scouts, who are now long since dead. The remains of the rusted and battered shields prove that these were Sir Ragnar's troops from a decade ago... and that they were indeed here.

NOTES:

This is a solo Quest for the Wizard, however, he is accompanied by 4 Scouts, and 1 Swordsman. The other players may assume roles of the Men-at-Arms. The Scouts may search for, and disarm traps; however, no Man-at-Arms may search for secret doors, or treasure. If the Wizard is adjacent to one of them he may pass a Potion of Healing to one Man-at-Arms – although neither unit may be adjacent a Monster to perform this action. The Wizard moves first, with the Men-at-Arm's turns following his.

The Wizard and Men-at-Arms do not regain Body Points or spells between map sections, only after completing the third area of Quest 1.

The falling rubble traps in this Quest inflict two combat dice of damaged, rolled by the character who has sprung the trap. The rubble does not block corridors or rooms, therefore no falling block tiles should be placed on the board. The may be searched for, and disarmed in the normal fashion.

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
5	6	4	10	6

He also knows the same spells as previously, but this is a dead magic area. If he stands next to the Source at the center of the room he may draw upon the power of the Source once each turn to summon 3 Skeletons. These may be placed anywhere in the room. Note: Once Urack is below 5 Body Points Skulmar will appear on the tile marked XX immediately. Once Skulmar appears read the following text aloud: "You should not have left me unattended!" He will immediately summon the Death Knights from the other areas of the Quest Board who appear next to him. On Zargon's turn the Death Knights will attack Urack until he is dead and then they will begin attacking the Heroes. Skulmar's stats are:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
8	5	6	5	7

He can only be harmed with the Spirit Blade or Fire magic, but as this is a dead magic zone none of those attacks will work! Therefore he cannot be harmed while in this room (nor will he leave the room!) On the first turn after Urack dies Skulmar will attempt to stand next to the Source. Once he is there, his first action will be to summon 10 Skeletons. On his second turn read the following text aloud "Skulmar is enveloped in a shimmering blue flame. The ground begins to tremble" He may then attack and Summon 1 further Death Knight. On his next turn an earthquake will begin, emanating from him toward room I. Use the earthquake tile and the broken wall tile. On his third turn the room will be enveloped in a Firestorm spell. Read aloud the following text: "Skulmar is wreathed in flame and cries out, falling to his knees in pain. The ground continues to quake, and it seems as though the mountain is going to collapse! A fast flight to the surface is the only alternative now!" Use falling rubble tiles randomly about the board for effect, but do not block the Hero's escape route to any of the stairs. Once the Heroes all reach the spiral stair cases refer to the concluding Quest notes.

- I This room contains 1 Artifact, either the Wand of Recall, or the Wand of Magic, whichever the Heroes do not possess.

NOTES continued:

- D Read the following text aloud: "The air in this area does not smell as stale as the tunnels behind. There are also signs of fresh foot prints in the dust on the floor."
- E If any of the Orcs in these rooms is attacked an alarm will sound, at which time all the doors in the rooms marked E will open.
- F This room contains a Black Orc, larger, meaner and tougher than other Orcs. Refer to the Monster Chart for his stats. The players can be told that the Monsters in this room appear to be under the command of the Black Orc.
- G These stairs lead upwards, to the ruins. Any character reaching the spiral staircase may be removed from play temporarily until the other characters catch up. At which time the Empire's outpost ruins map will be setup and the players may continue.
- H These rooms are not yet accessible and are part of a later Quest. Do not place any furniture or doors for the rooms on the game board. The players should not be lured into thinking there is anything else to do in this level at this time. These rooms are only present in the off chance the Wizard uses a Pass Through Rock spell. If he does so, and does not have a second Pass Through Rock spell, he will have to remain here until the Heroes return in a later Quest – although it is unlikely the Scouts will be able to finish this Quest themselves.

Quest 11

Hunting the Black Orc Warlord

Following Skulmar's suggestion that Urack has fled to the lower levels of the mountain passages you find yourselves in the crumbling passages and aqueducts of the Ancient Dwarven City. After searching through the abandoned passages for some time you finally locate a tunnel leading further downward. The air is thick with gases, sulfur, and the smell of Orcs. Be on your guard, there's no telling what Urack... or indeed Skulmar, may have in store!

NOTES:

If Sir Orrick, Lord Castanea, or any Men-at-Arms died in the previous Quest they are lost.

The Heroes and Men-at-Arms do not regain body points or Spells between map sections, only after completing the second area of Quest 11. Note: Death Knights will attack Orcs and Heroes alike.

If any of the traps are sprung, or the door buffering the regions marked A is opened the remaining falling block traps are immediately activated, permanently blocking movement.

B If any of these Orcs are attacked an alarm will sound, the doors containing Orcs labelled B will be opened, and all the corresponding Orcs labeled with a B will move toward the players.

C This room contains two Black Orcs, one of which is a Black Orc Necromancer. Refer to the Monster Chart for their stats.

Once both Black Orcs are defeated the Quest is completed.

D This is an abandoned guard post. Searching for treasure will yield 21 gold coins, and a Helmet amongst the rubble. This Helmet is exactly the same as the one described on the Equipment Card.

Ancient City. Urack had been busy himself, and had learned to command the Undead as well. He had been lying in wait for me, and his troops flanked us in the passages from the Summit above. My forces were no match for him this time and I was captured and brought here to this cell where all magical powers are diminished.

Urack has had me bound to his will since. Although none of my powers are of use directly while I am trapped in this area of the city, he has used me and the Tomes of Chaos Magics from the Chaos Spire and the ones I brought back from Kalos to teach his Orc Necromancers to wield the power of the Undead.

Unbeknownst to Urack, I still have powers of my own. I hear the Great Evil below the Mountain speak to me now, and I know Urack's dim-witted mind is too slow to perceive of what lies beneath us at the Source of the Great Evil. Urack has seen the Source, and has tried to channel its powers but his clumsy mind is too feeble to ever use its powers as I can. Urack has likely fled to the lower passages to re-group with his remaining troops. Possibly to even attempt to unlock the power of the Source. Do not fear, it obeys only one mind, that of its new master.

I have already begun to channel the awesome power of the Source from here in my cell – channel it into a physical form. Urack suspected, I think, that these new Undead Knights are not all they appear to be; but it is now too late! Even now my Death Knights are preparing themselves in the hidden catacombs and ancient Dwarven aqueducts below the city ruins. Soon we will march forth from below the Mountain and reign death and decay upon all who stand against us!! Your weakened Empire will be first to fall.

After hearing the tale Skulmar has laid out for you, none of you are quite sure what to make of it. "Partly truth, but mostly power-mad ramblings no doubt" Barbarian says. "I suggest we leave him in his tomb to continue to rot."

The group elects to continue into the darker passages below, leaving Skulmar to consider his demise – and to keep him where he can be found!

Interlude 1

Ambush in the Foothills

The remaining members of the group have joined up on their way to the Black Mountains, led by a single Scout: As you approach the Black Mountain foothills you become uncomfortably aware that your progress may not be going amiss. At dusk on the last night before entering the mountains you are ambushed by a party of Orcs who seem to have been lying in wait for you! You must now defend yourselves and ensure that none of their number escape to tell of this!

NOTES:

The Elf must choose his spells before the opponents are laid out.

Summon Orcs, Soothe, Rust, and Ball of Flame.

Any of the players may assume the role of the Scout. As the Wizard is not present for this short Quest that Player may assume the role of the Scout.

The Heroes cannot search for treasure on this map.

Once all the enemies are defeated the Quest Interlude is over. The Scout does not have to survive, although if he does the Heroes get 150 gold coins each from the Scouting party's reserve gold.

Skulmar

Sealed behind thick bars, within a cell made of smoothly polished rock Skulmar gazes out into the room, his stare piercing through your flesh.

Skulmar speaks slowly: "At last a force has arrived to topple the Black Orcs from their seat of power. But I am surprised it was any member of the Empire. Your lands, and its people, should have been in chaos and disarray by now – although I'm sure the fool Orcs are to blame for that as well. If I had my way the Black Orcs would have all burned alive long ago below this festering mountain!"

Wondering how Skulmar could possibly be here, of all places, one of the Dwarf interrupts: "The last the Empire heard of you was following the defeat of the Witch Lord at Kalos. And you escaped, aided by Sir Ragnar..."

"Ah, Ragnar, a puppet, nothing more. Some minds are easier to control than others. He asked for my help, and I gave it willingly. I created the Chaos Spire atop the summit above, almost half a century ago, and long before the time of the current Emperor or his lackeys! As my Undead legions began venturing further under the mountains we finally encountered the Black Orcs. They have been down there for close to 100 years by all reckoning, warring with other denizens of the underworld, as well as the remaining Dwarves who had sought refuge much deeper below their ancient city.

The Black Orcs were ferocious and numerous even then, but my armies of undead do not relent, and the Black Orcs were finally driven into submission. It was then that I learned of what they had unearthed; or perhaps the Dwarves had unearthed it..."

"What are you talking about?!" The Wizard demands.

"A source of unimaginable power. It has dwelt in the bowels of the World Edge Mountains for eons. I learned of the Great Evil's presence after my Undead legions defeated and enslaved the Black Orcs. I had only begun to fathom its raw power when I was summoned to Kalos by the Witch Lord. I took many of my Undead troops, as well as a small token of the Evil Presence with me to Kalos and loosed it upon the passages leading to the Halls of Vision.

In the few months while I was in Kalos, my commanding hold over the Chaos Spire and my Undead legions here was weakened. The Black Orcs chose that time to rise up, crushing the remains of my army here. They cut a swathe of destruction through the underground to the surface, which they had not seen in their lifetimes below the Mountain. They were hungry for victory after years as slaves to my Undead legions. They even managed to conquer the Chaos Spire. Within the Chaos Spire they discovered many things foreign to them, books of Chaos Spells and Magics. Though many were destroyed in blind hatred during the initial attack, the Clan's Warchief, Urack had them sent to his stronghold in the Ancient Dwarven City. Through the Tomes of Chaos Magic Urack quickly became more powerful than any other Black Orc in their Clan's bloody history.

Over the next few months, from Kalos, using the Witch Lord's powerful gift of vision, I witnessed the Black Orcs slowly journey throughout the World Edge Mountains, and beyond. There were many small raids and attacks during this time. Although no one knew whom the attackers were. The Black Orcs attacked in secrecy, leaving none alive to speak of their bloody massacres.

I can only guess that it was during this time that Sir Ragnar came across the Black Orcs. When he came to me in Kalos he was near death. He claimed he had been captured and tortured, and his men had been slaughtered by the Black Orcs. Ragnar apparently knew of me, and had heard how I had briefly enslaved the Black Orcs. I am sure the Black Orcs took delight in boasting to Ragnar, their prisoner, that they defeated my remaining troops here in the Ancient City.

Ragnar did not know there were grander schemes afoot, and he thought if he came to me, I would defeat the Black Orcs once again. When he found me I was broken and battered amongst the ruins of Kalos. He took me into the Plains of Death where I quickly parted company with him once I was strong enough. I left Ragnar to the barren Plains of Death... and I understand he was executed soon after by his own people! Kyeh heh heh.

When I had finally regained my strength I could feel the pull of the Great Evil beneath the mountain again. I assembled a sizeable army of Undead and assaulted the Chaos Spire and made my way into the passages toward the

Quest 2

The Orc Raider's Hideout

Your group and the remaining troops from the Empire's scouting party have all convened in the valley below the outpost ruins. It now seems apparent that the Black Orcs are organizing things, but the encounter with a Black Orc Necromancer in the foot hills only poses more questions. After three days of no activity it is suggested that two of the Scouts accompany you to a village only two days away, while the rest of the troops return and inform the Emperor of all that has occurred. As you reach the village there appears to be disarray and chaos. By chance a fleeing villager tells you that they were attacked the night before by a group of vicious Orcs who left few alive, and have taken the season's harvest. Following the trail for hours back toward the foothills again leads you to a well-hidden and dimly lit cavern. The smell of burning flesh and Orc sweat is heavy in the air...

NOTES:

- Any of the players may assume the roles of the two Scouts.
- A The Heroes and the Men-at-Arms start in this hallway. As each Hero or Man-at-Arm's turn commences he is placed on one of the gray arrows to start and may move normally. If all the gray squares are filled the unit may choose to remain outside, or move further into the hallway.
- B If the Orcs in this room are attacked the doors to the adjoining rooms will open immediately. The Orcs in the neighboring rooms may then move and attack normally on their turn.
- C Read aloud the following text: "This is a partially constructed suit of Chaos Armor which is empty at the moment. It is covered in strange runes and markings." This is only a suit of armor, however, if the Heroes decide they want to attack it has 2 Body Points and 4 Defend dice – it can defend all skulls rolled against it by rolling at least one black shield, it does not attack or move.

Quest 10

Ancient City: Lair of the Black Orcs

As your group travels through the passages and tunnels further below the Mountains you begin to approach the ruins of the Ancient Dwarven City. Hearing sounds of commotion and scuffles in the dark passages above, the party takes cover amongst the ruins of old buildings, rubble, and stalagmites. Ready to ambush the on-coming attackers your group charges the unwelcomed guests – to find that it is a band of well-armed Goblins. They claim they have been searching for your group and wish to assist in toppling the Black Orc leader who has dominated their clan leaders, and experimented on Orcs and Goblins alike with Chaos Magic. With the Goblins in tow, yourselves, and the remaining troops of the Empire hastily make way toward the Lair of the Black Orcs further below...

NOTES:

- Note: This Quest is much warmer than the previous two Quests, and is not considered cold or icy.
- If Sir Orrick, Lord Castanea, or any Men-at-Arms died in the previous Quest they are lost. If the Heroes freed Garnet in the Chaos Spire he will be present along with 4 additional normal Goblins. If Spikefeet was freed in the Chaos Spire he will be present along with 4 additional normal Goblins who all have shields (each of Spikefeet's Goblins have 2 Defend dice). If neither was freed there will only be 4 regular Goblins to assist the Heroes. Note: Death Knights will attack Orcs and Heroes.
- A The Heroes, troops and Goblins start here.
- B These rooms are linked by the trap doors.
- C If any of these doors are closed when Urack is attacked they will open.

Like any Black Orc he may attack twice per turn, or he may cast one spell. He knows the following spells: Summon Undead (x2), Summon Orcs, Reanimation, Restore Chaos, Dispell, Mirror Magic, Cloud of Chaos, Fear (x2), Tempest, Mind Blast, Mind Freeze, and Sharpen Blades. If he starts losing the battle he will immediately disappear in a cloud of foul sulphur-smelling smoke and ash. He may do this even during a Hero's turn. When Urack disappears he will drop an Artifact: Tome of Greater Chaos Magic II. Quest 9

Into the Orc's Gaping Maw

With Lord Castanea's help you have survived the Summit, thus far. You have now reached the Summit entrance and it would seem that the Emperor's hunch – that the Black Orcs main forces were concentrated at the Empire's borders – was correct. The only clues left to find those below the World Edge Mountains it would seem! The Dwarf warns that the Ancient Dwarves were not only excellent builders, but also cunning and devious; and would not leave their ancient cities unprotected. The Goblins are also very clever, and have likely re-set many of the ancient traps under the orders of their Black Orc masters. The Black Orcs do not often leave themselves open to attack though, and in order to ensure your stealthy entrance into the Ancient City you must slay all enemies who spot you!

NOTES:

Note: This Quest is considered a cold icy region for those Heroes with items such as Snowshoes of Speed, etc.

If Sir Orrick died in the previous Quest Lord Castanea will have revived him. Both Sir Orrick and Lord Castanea join the Heroes, along with 1 Halberdier, 1 Scout, 1 Crossbowman, and one other Man-at-Arms of the player's choice. The players must be aware that they have far to travel and must do their best to ensure that as many of them survive to reach the Ancient Dwarven City as possible, there will be no further reinforcements! If the optional Chaos Spire Quest was skipped then Zargon may add regular 2 Orcs to area A on any of his turns.

The Heroes and Men-at-Arms do not regain body points or Spells between map sections, only after completing the second area of Quest 9.

He also knows the following Chaos Spells: Summon Undead, Reanimation, and Ball of Flame, and Soothe. Once he is defeated the first Hero to search for treasure will find a necklace made from both human finger bones and ancient Dwarven coins that Gorakk was wearing. The Hero finding this item may sell it for 325 gold coins, but only once all of the Quests herein have been completed.

F Searching for treasure will reveal a rusty key.

G This treasure chest contains a Spell Scroll with the Detection spell Treasure Horde. This may be used once.

H Both treasure chests can only be opened with the rusty key from room F. The untrapped chest contains a Spell Scroll with the Chaos Spell Summon Undead. The trapped chest contains poison gas, if not disarmed, it which will inflict 2 combat dice of damage to anyone in the room – the chest also contains a long sword and a shield.

W If the Wizard was trapped in this area during the first Quest, he will be located at the position marked W. As he has been trapped here for so long he is reduced to 1 Body Point, and may only move using one red die for the remainder of this Quest.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Orcs

NOTES continued:

- H

This is the Black Orc General, Corgon. His stats are:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
5	6/6	6	7	3
- Once he is attacked an alarm will sound, the remaining doors in the room as well as doors E and L will open. Room K will be triggered. After 1 turn Lord Castanea and two Men-at-Arms will be placed in room B, under the player's control. They will aid in the fight!
- I

The Ice Slide cannot be found through normal searching.
- J

These areas are linked by the ice tunnels. Note: The Ogre is too large to pass through! The treasure chest contains 350 gold coins.
- K

This Orc Necromancer knows the Chaos Spells: Summon Orcs (x2), and Summon Undead (x2). He can open his door at any time, and will cast each spell immediately to block the Heroes passage out.

Interlude 2

Awakened by Footfalls...

You are abruptly awoken from a restless sleep at your encampment by the sounds of heavy footfalls drawing closer. The Scout who had been on night watch has awoken the rest of the encampment, but it is already too late. You find that you are cornered between the shelter of the surrounding rocks and a large raiding party of Orcs who are bearing down upon you! It can't be luck that these Orcs happened upon the party, and it is more likely that your recent attacks on the Black Orc stronghold has drawn unwanted attention! You must stop them from advancing further. Quickly, arm yourselves!

NOTES:

- The Wizard and Elf must choose their spells before the opponents are laid out. The Elf randomly loses one spell, while the Wizard randomly loses 3 spells, as they do not have time to fully prepare their spells.*

Any of the players may assume the role of the Men-at-Arms.

The Heroes cannot search for treasure on this map.

Barbarian's start location.

B

Dwarf's start location.

C

Elf's start location.

D

Wizard's start location.

E

These are the additional Men-at-Arms who are in the Heroes encampment. The Heroes may choose any type of Man-at-Arms to place at each of these 3 locations.

One turn after two Black Orcs have been defeated place two new regular Orcs on the adjacent squares marked X. These two Orcs will command the remaining Orcs and Goblins to stop their attack and ask for a truce with the Heroes. Note: The Heroes should not be allowed to continue battling the Monsters. Read aloud the following: "The two Orcs appear to be out of breath and weary. One of the Orcs holds out his hands, showing that his sword is sheathed, he then speaks, 'We have come. Black Orcs have brought with them great power and strange magic. They have taken over all Orc and Goblin Clans in the Mountains. The Warchiefs first wanted war with Humans, but now too many Orcs get killed and the Black Orcs have made slaves of our Warlords and Warchiefs. We come to you for help. Our Clan turned against the Black Orcs, and now many of the Undead approach our stronghold!'"

Quest 8

Clues in the New-Fallen Snow

Just beyond the Chaos Spire, and before reaching the Summit entrance you spot a large number of fresh footprints in the new-fallen snow. The footprints are mainly Orc and Goblin prints, with larger prints of what appears to be Black Orcs. The trail leads into a narrow crack in the rocks at the Summit. Though the air and surrounding rocks are cold you can hear the faint trickle of water further inside... Following the trickle of water through the dark narrow passage you find a rickety wooden door which is badly rotted, and icy at the bottom. It would seem that this may be a hidden Orc lair which would have gone amiss had it not been for the new-fallen snow. Before passing through the Summit entrance Sir Orrick has decided it will be wise to assess whether this could be another Black Orc stronghold...

NOTES:

Note: This Quest is considered a cold icy region for those Heroes with items such as Snowshoes of Speed, etc.

If Sir Orrick died in the previous Quest Lord Castanea will have revived him. Sir Orrick joins the Heroes with 1 Halberdier, 1 Scout, and 1 Crossbowman.

- A The four Heroes, Sir Orrick, and the three Men-at-Arms begin their Quest here.
- B The portcullis is rusty. Any Hero wishing to open the portcullis must roll one red die: if result, plus their starting Body Points, is below 11 the portcullis doesn't open. A Hero may try once per turn.
- C This Orc is armed with a Crossbow. He will remain close to the edge, when he dies both he and the Crossbow fall into the crevasse.

- D This is a rebel Orc, who is being tortured by some Goblins. The Goblins will not attack the Orc, but will attack any Hero opening the door. The Orc will not attack the Heroes. Once the Goblins are dead the first Hero to search for treasure will be given a Potion of Healing by the Orc which will restore 4 lost Body Points. The Orc is wounded and can only move 2 Squares per turn, and has 1 Attack and 2 Defend dice. He may be controlled by whoever opened the door first.
- E The secret door cannot be found through normal searching. Note: The door will not open until room H is triggered.
- F The tomb contains a Vial of Sacred Water.
- G There is no danger of falling into the crevasse, and it may be jumped normally if the Heroes so choose, though it is bottomless, anyone falling in will be lost.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Goblins, 2 Orcs

Quest 4

Aiding the Rebel Orcs

Although wary, and on your guard, you agree to follow the Orcs to the area they claim houses their Clan's stronghold. Leaving the remainder of the troops to regroup at a second campsite in the woods you head out, led by the two Orcs. The Orcs believe that their stronghold will already be under assault by a small army of Undead, who were being led by a single Black Orc. Apparently theirs is the first Clan to break ties with the Black Orcs and their growing Horde. If successful this could be a fruitful, if not unheard of, alliance between the Empire and the smaller Orc and Goblin Clans – and of course the promise of a small reward for aiding the Clan will not go amiss either! The possibility still exists that this is just a ploy to lead you into a trap, however, as well. Be on your guard!

NOTES:

There are no Men-at-Arms in this Quest, however one Orc will accompany the Heroes. Any of the Players may assume the role of the Orc, his stats are those of a normal Orc. Note: Orcs and Goblins in this Quest will not attack the Heroes, however the other Monsters will attack the Heroes, Goblins and Orcs!

- A The Heroes, and Orc, begin the Quest on the long stairway.
- B The room's 3 doors are already open when the Quest begins. Once this room has been seen the Heroes may assume the roles of the Orcs and Goblins present, as they must defend themselves against the Undead and Black Orc. Control lasts until all of the enemies are slain.
- C These Monsters are not under the Heroes control. The two adjacent figures are Pollip a Goblin, and Korack the Orc Warchief. They may not be attacked by the Heroes or other Monsters. Once the attackers have all been slain and a Hero is in the room read the following aloud: "The Goblin, Pollip, speaks 'We thank you. Too many Goblin and Orc die for the plans of the Black Orcs! At first we did want war, but it is too costly. The Black Orcs have all but enslaved the other Clans. Most of the Warchiefs who do not want war at this time are prisoners of the Black Orcs. My own Chief Glisten was captured for his plans...' Then Korack interrupts, 'Yes, Orcs too die for what the Black Orcs want. We are their slaves now that they control all the Clans. The power of their Horde will continue to grow, but no Black Orc will know death, only my Orc cousins.' Then Pollip speaks up again 'We thank you for your help, but we ask that you help us rescue our Clan leaders from the main stronghold a day away. If our leaders are freed they will persuade others to leave the Black Orc Horde.'" Note: Upon their rescue each Hero is awarded 120 gold coins by the Orcs.

- D These rooms are linked by the trap doors.
- E Chests 1 and 3: Empty, contains a poison dart trap inflicts 3 combat dice

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Skeletons

NOTES continued:

- damage, chest 2: Contains 2 Heal Body Spell Scrolls, contains a poison gas trap inflicting 4 combat dice damage to anyone in the room.
- F The Mummies have 3 Body Points, 5 Attack, and 5 Defend dice.
- G This room contains a Cloak of Protection and Rabbit Boots.

NOTES continued:

- As the Heroes are higher in the Spire the outside is completely open (and is not solid rock as it is in other Quests), therefore, casting a Pass Through Rock Spell and stepping into one of the dark gray regions outside the Spire will result a fall, possibly to their death.
- Note: As the Hero did have a Pass Through Rock Spell cast on them, it will last until they reach the ground, meaning they may fall through the ceiling of the first level of the Chaos Spire. Locate the Hero's corresponding tile on the first Quest board and place him there, his turn will then be over, and he will suffer the appropriate damage. If the Hero ends up in solid rock on the first Quest board they are considered dead.
- The Heroes and Men-at-Arms do not regain body points or Spells between map sections, only after completing the second area of the Spire.*
- N The staircase leads to room M. Note: The secret door in this room cannot be found through normal searching!
- O Stepping outside, and falling, from this level of the Spire will result in 3 combat dice of damage to the Hero.
- P Stepping outside, and falling, from this level of the Spire will result in 4 combat dice of damage to the Hero.
- Q Stepping off the top of the Spire directly, and falling, from this level will result in 5 combat dice of damage to the Hero. Note: The Hero (unless under the effect of a Pass Through Rock Spell) will slide off the sides of the Spire and land outside. If the Hero survives the fall place him at one of the entrance doors on the first level again!
- R Searching for secret doors will reveal a lever beneath the throne, however a Hero must be adjacent to trigger it. This only needs to be triggered once and the secret door in room N will then be opened. Note: The teleport trap may be jumped!

- S This stairway leads to room T. Once the Hero reaches the square marked X place them on the corresponding tile in room T, they may immediately continue to move, or perform an action (passing from rooms S to T does not end the Heroes turn).
- T This stairway leads to room S. Refer to the corresponding notes for room S.
- U Searching for treasure in this room will reveal 2 Pass Through Rock Spell Scrolls, 260 gold coins, and 2 Potions of Healing which will each restore 1 red die worth of lost Body Points. There is also a piece of parchment on the Sorcerer's Bench, read the following aloud: "The parchment reads: Pass through the Gargoyle."
- V This Gargoyle is not alive, and does not attack. It is a stone statue. The secret door in this room cannot be found through normal searching!
- W Searching for treasure in this room will reveal the Bone Wand Artifact (only if the item is not already in the possession of the Heroes), as well as a hidden switch inside the treasure chest. Pressing the switch opens the secret door.
- X This room contains a mysterious Black Orc whose eyes are completely bandaged, such that he cannot see, and his skin sparkles slightly. He is located in the tile marked XX and has the following stats:
- | MOVEMENT | ATTACK | DEFEND | BODY | MIND |
|----------|--------|--------|------|------|
| 9 | 2 | 4 | 6 | 7 |
- He also knows the following Chaos Spells: Fire Storm, Lightning Bolt, Command, Mind Freeze, Mind Blast, Ice Wall, Summon Undead, Restore Chaos, Soothe, Sleep, Cloud of Chaos, and Hurricane. He will attempt to flee to the top of the Chaos Spire via the stairway X, leading to the square marked XX in room Y. If he is killed the Heroes will discover he was wearing a Spell Ring Artifact, and also the Artifact: Tome of Lesser Chaos Magic III.
- Y The edges of the top of the Spire are a drop off. See Note Q.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 1 Orc and 1 Orc Necromancer

- H Searching for secret doors will reveal a lever inside the cupboard. Pulling the lever requires that the Hero stand on the tile marked XX, this counts as an action for the turn. See room L.
- I This is another Goblin Boss, Spikefeet. He has the same stats as Garnet does. Once he is found read aloud the following text: "I must get to my clan. The Black Orcs are trying to control all the clans." He will move toward the exit door on each of Zargon's turns.
- J These Orc Necromancers may only cast Summon Undead.
- K The Black Orc Necromancer in the room is Skullgore, his stats are:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
7	4	4	4	6

He knows the Chaos Spells: Summon Undead, Summon Orcs, Reanimation, Soothe, Ball of Flame, Lightning Bolt, Mind Freeze, and Raise the Dead.
- L Searching for treasure in the room with the chest reveals there is a passage through the bottom of the chest leading to the trap door in the other room marked L. The passage only stays open for one turn after the lever in room H is pulled and then it closes, then the lever must then be pulled again.
- M The staircase leads to room N. Note: The teleport trap may be jumped!

Quest 5

Urack, the Black Orc Warlord

A tentative alliance has been struck between your party and two small Clans of rebel Orcs and Goblins. Though wary, you and the remaining Empire troops agree to aid the two Clans - for the moment. After careful consideration a plan has now been set in motion. One of the rebel Orc Warchiefs will escort you all into the carefully hidden lair of the Black Orc Warlord, Urack. You will be taken in, past the Orc guards, as apparent prisoners to be tortured. Once you have located the other Warchiefs who are being held prisoner it will be your duty to ensure they safely reach the entrance. Once they are free they will return to their Clans, and hopefully persuade them to abandon their aid of the Black Orc's war upon the Empire. You must also be wary, the Black Orc Warlord, Urack, is here overseeing the current raids and attacks upon the Empire. He is extremely powerful, and a force to be reckoned with!

NOTES:

- The Heroes and Men-at-Arms do not regain Body Points or Spells between map sections, only after completing the second area of Quest 5.*
- The Heroes being the Quest as apparent prisoners of an Orc who will lead them inside the lair. The Heroes may not attack, search for secret doors, treasure, or traps, until they have located the other prisoners. If the Heroes do choose to make any other actions other than moving all the doors along the gray line from position A will open, as well as the door to room E. The Orcs will then attack the prisoners in room E! None of the Monsters will attack the Heroes or their guide, initially.
- A The Heroes begin the Quest on the spiral staircase, a regular Orc will be leading them, use the Orc with the large notched sword to represent their guide. He will move at his full movement rate along the gray pathway to the position marked X, but will wait for Heroes to catch up if they lag behind.
 - B Each Orc is armed with rickety shields and old helmets. They defend with 4 Defend dice. Their equipment is useless to the Heroes.
 - C This Orc is armed with a rickety shield, an old helmet and a long sword. He defend with 4 Defend dice, and attack diagonally The equipment is useless to Heroes, but the long sword may be kept.
 - D These Orcs are armed with shoddy crossbows. They are of no use to the Heroes once the Orcs are dead.
 - E The two Orcs and the Goblin in this room have 2 Body Points each. Once the door to the room has been opened the Heroes cover will be blown and all the Orcs present will turn on the Heroes and their guide. The Heroes must
- Once at position X he will open the door to room E. See the further Quest notes for room E.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Orcs

Optional Quest

The Chaos Spire

The air atop the summit is growing frigid, and the skies suggest a blizzard is approaching. One of Sir Orrick's Scouts has just returned from ahead on the path. He believes he has found the entrance to the Ancient Dwarven City, however there is an ominous tower between your current position and the entrance – making it difficult to enter unnoticed. Sir Orrick suggests that the best course of action will be to attack the tower first to ensure that your positions are not flanked from the rear as you sneak into the passage leading down toward the Ancient City. As there appear to be two entrances to the tower Lord Castanea suggests that if the party enters you should split into two groups while the rest remain to guard the tower itself from any approaching Orcs.

NOTES:

Note: This Quest is considered a cold icy region for those Heroes with items such as Snowshoes of Speed, etc.

If Sir Orrick died in the previous Quest Lord Castanea will have revived him. Sir Orrick joins the Heroes with 1 Halberdier, 1 Scout, and 1 Crossbowman. The players must divide themselves into 2 groups of roughly even numbers.

- A The two respective groups begin the Quest at these doors.
- B These rooms are linked by the trap doors.
- C These rooms are linked by the trap doors.
- D These rooms are linked by the trap doors.
- E Searching for secret doors will reveal a lever in the fireplace. Pulling the lever requires that the Hero stand on the tile marked X, this counts as an action for the turn. If there are no Heroes in room F with the throne then tell the Heroes they hear sounds of grinding stone within the tower. See room F.

- F If there is a Hero in this room when the lever in room E is pulled they will see the throne and the wall behind rotate away. The throne swaps positions with the arrow tile behind. If a Hero then stands on the empty tile where the throne was and the lever is pulled again the Hero will swap positions with the throne, passing through to the next room.
- G This is the Goblin Boss, Garnet. He has the same stats as a normal Goblin except that he has 3 Defend dice, 3 Body Points and 2 Mind Points. Once he is found read aloud the following text: "Urack has gone mad! He's going to destroy everything. That Urack and the other Black Orcs captured me and told my Clan I had joined them. If you let me leave I'll return to my clan in the Black Mountains and stop them helping the Orcs." If the Heroes let him leave he will move toward the exit door on Zargon's turn until he is outside.

ensure that the prisoners in room E reach the spiral staircase. Refer to the Quest 5 addendum notes following the Emperor's speech should the Heroes fail. The Heroes and prisoners may move through each other, but the prisoners cannot attack.

- F These are rebel Goblins who are fighting the Ogres in the pit. Once the Heroes are present they may choose to enter the pit, but it will take a full turn, performing no other actions, to climb back out. The Ogres are too clumsy, and the Goblins too small, to get out. The Goblins will not attack the Heroes. If the Heroes save any of the Goblins they will be awarded 1 Potion of Healing each (only when the Quest is completed). The Potions will restore 2 lost Body Points each.

- G This is Urack, the Black Orc Warlord, he has the following stats:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
5	6/6	4	10	6

Like any Black Orc he may attack twice per turn, or he may cast one spell. He knows the following spells: Summon Undead, Summon Orcs, Reanimation, Restore Chaos, Dispell, Mirror Magic, and Cloud of Chaos. Note: Once he has received at least 2 Body Points of damage he will flee towards the door indicated by the letter I on the Quest map. He may immediately open the secret doors to get there. It is important that Urack escape, once he has reached door I he should be removed from play. Alternatively, if the Heroes are close by they may follow him to the spiral staircase P, when Urack reaches it he is removed from play.

- H The treasure chests contain 400 gold coins, a Heal Body Spell Scroll, and 2 Vials of Sacred Water.
- I This door leads to I on the next Quest map.
- J This chest is a Mimic. It may not be disarmed, or identified as such. The other traps may be searched for and disarmed as though the Mimic Chest is not present. Once a Hero has attempted to search for treasure it may move and attack as a regular Monster. Its stats are:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
4	3	7	5	0

The chest may cast the Chaos Spell Thieving Wind twice. It may also be destroyed immediately by the Elf Spell Twist Wood. Once destroyed, the first Hero to search for treasure will find 3 red sapphires worth 175 gold coins each.

- K This room contains the spoils of the Orcs raids and lootings. Tell the Heroes that they will later be rewarded for finding it!
- L The first Hero to search for treasure will find a Treasure Without Doom Spell Scroll, and a Treasure Horde Spell Scroll.
- M All Orcs and Goblins in this area are loyal to Urack and will ensure his escape by blocking hallways and slowing the Heroes if they attempt to follow Urack after his escape from the first map area.
- N Each time any Hero attempts to search for treasure in this room there is a 1-in-3 chance that the Fire-burst trap will be re-activated and their turn will end, unsuccessfully (without drawing a Treasure Card). The Hero must roll 1 red die, if the Hero rolls a 5 or 6 the Fire Burst trap is activated, if they roll a 4 or below they may draw a treasure card as usual.
- O If none of the Heroes have the Bone Wand Artifact it may be found in this room by the first Hero who searches for treasure.
- P This is an alternate exit from the lair and leads back outside.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Orcs

The Court of the Emperor

After the help from the rebel Clans, and locating the main Black Orc lair, there have been no apparent signs of activity in the last week during your journey in-land to the Emperor.

You have now finally reached the Emperor, who has already received the recent news of the Black Orcs' attacks on the outlying villages, as well as the Black Orc's new found ability to wield Chaos Magic. You also turn over the two Tomes of Chaos Magic to the Emperor's advisors, who quickly hurry off to have them studied.

The Dwarf informs the Emperor and the other Heroes that he recognizes the area that was on the map they recovered in the ruins. "The summit peak that is marked was the only entrance to an ancient Dwarven city, far below the Earth. Unfortunately, that particular summit is extremely difficult to reach on foot, especially at this time of year when the winter winds are gathering."

The Emperor also informs you that only a day before you arrived there was news that reached the Empire's capital from several different outlying townships. Many of the border towns were overrun with the Undead, apparently under the command of Orcish Armies who swept down out of the Mountains, followed by Goblin war chariots. All seemingly led by the heavily armored Black Orcs. Each of the villages contained hundreds of people, however, only a handful of people escaped to tell the tale.

The Empire is preparing to defend itself, however, the enemy's numbers are in the thousands. With the Empire's resources and food stocks for the winter in short supply, time will be of the essence! Hundreds of soldiers of the Empire have already taken up positions along the border, and it won't be long before they engage the Hordes of Undead, Goblins, and Orcs – all of whom still follow the banner of the Black Orc's.

The Emperor asks that you travel with a group of his soldiers into the World Edge Mountains to backtrack the Black Orc troops, destroy any Orcs you find... and if possible send news of the Empire's stolen harvests and supplies. Disheartened with the further news of the most recent attacks, the Emperor has also decided to send his personal Imperial Knight, Sir Orrick, and his court's Seer, Lord Castanea, on the expedition.

Lord Castanea is also gravely concerned about the Orcs and Black Orcs use of Chaos magic. "It is likely that some other force must be at work here, as the Orcs alone have never shown an aptitude for the darker Chaos art of summoning the dead, or raising their fallen brethren." From the two Tomes already recovered the Emperor now asks that any other Tomes of Chaos Magics be recovered from the Black Orcs, and brought to the Empire.

Before setting out, the Emperor also tells you of the Orc's Bane sword. Apparently there were two such swords forged. The second sword has not been seen for well over a century, but it is said to lie somewhere near Karak Kadrin. The swords were forged at the castle of Borden Khume which is also near Karak Kadrin, several leagues north of your destination, on the map. By all accounts the castle has been uninhabited for as long as anyone can remember, and is likely the best place to search for the sword.

While the troops will be heading straight for the peak, if you wish, you may break from the main party and detour toward Karak Kadrin, and Borden Khume Castle to search for the second sword before rejoining Sir Orrick and his men.

Best of luck our Champions, you are being rewarded with 750 gold coins each for your service thus far. Use it to equip yourselves as there will be many difficult and isolated roads ahead!

NOTES continued:

- now stores the greater magic'."*
- H The Orc Necromancer in this room has 4 Body Points. The chest is trapped with an exploding lock which will inflict 3 combat dice of data to anyone within 3 squares of the chest. The chest is empty.
 - I The first Hero to search for treasure will find 2 Potions of Healing which will restore 4 lost Body Points each, and a pair of Bracers.
 - J These areas are linked by the ice tunnels.
 - K Any treasure stolen by the Ice Gremlins will be in this room.
 - L The first Hero to search for treasure, after searching for treasure in room G, will find the Artifact: Tome of Greater Chaos Magic I. Note: Once Sir Orrick reaches the entrance door the Quest is finished, if he dies a Hero must carry him to the door with 1 less movement die.

The Heroes may purchase weapons, equipment and Potions at this point before continuing.

The following Quest is optional. If the Heroes decide to take the detour to Karak Kadrin then continue with the optional Quest "Borden Khume Castle". If the Heroes want to continue on without searching for a second Orc's Bane sword refer to Quest 6.

Quest 5 addendum note (Rescued Warchiefs):
If the Heroes successfully escorted any of the Orc and/or Goblin Warchiefs out of the entrance in Quest 5 then there will be fewer Orcs and Goblins to battle in future. As such, one Orc and one Goblin are to be removed from each room (not corridor) in Quests 6 and 7.

Quest 2 and 5 addendum notes:
If the Heroes discovered the hidden treasure room (F) in Quest 2, and/or the hidden treasure room (K) in Quest 5 the Emperor will now reward them with the following:

Barbarian: Quest 2: Potion of Battle Rage, Potion of Healing (1 red die of Body Points), Quest 5: 500 gold coins

Dwarf: Quest 2: Spell Scroll: Skate, Potion of Dexterity, Potion of Healing (2 Body Points), Quest 5: Spell Scroll: Genie

Elf: Quest 2: Potion of Recall, Spell Scroll: Heal Body, Quest 5: 500 gold coins

Wizard: Quest 2: Spell Scroll: Ice Storm, Potion of Healing (2 Body Points), Quest 5: 1 Potion of Healing (4 Body Points)

Of the additional units accompanying the Heroes Sir Orrick and Lord Castanea have the following stats:

Sir Orrick, Imperial Knight to the Emperor (Use an Elven Warrior, or a Man-at-Arms Swordsman to represent Sir Orrick)

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
2 Red Dice	4	5	6	3

Lord Castanea, Emperor's Seer (Use the Storm Master, an extra Wizard, the High Mage, or the Chaos Warlock to represent Lord Castanea)

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
2 Red Dice	2 (staff)	3	4	5

He knows all the following spells from the Imperial Seer Spells : Psychic Recovery, Warmth, Wall of Stone, Heal Body, Wall of Flame, and Swift Wind (refer to the related Seer Spell cards for their description).

Note: Both Sir Orrick and Lord Castanea may carry one Potion which they may use themselves, but may not acquire new weapons, treasure or equipment, nor can they search for treasure. They may, search for secret doors or traps. They may disarm a trap, in the same way a Hero does, but without a tool kit.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 2 Orcs

Optional Quest

Borden Khume Castle

Leaving Sir Orrick and his troops to continue on to the summit first, you make a detour toward Karak Kadrin, and the castle of Borden Khume. After three days of journeying along the unkempt mountain roads a decrepit castle can be seen far off the path in the distance. As you approach you feel as though your group is being watched from the tower at the centre of the castle's courtyard. After searching along the walls of the courtyard you manage to find a thick iron gate which is quite old and in disrepair. Entering through a large hole in the iron gate, made by someone (or something), you are certain that the castle, and the courtyard tower, are not empty!

NOTES:

- A The four Heroes may begin and end their Quest here. They may leave at any time. When the Gargoyle in room G is killed place one Ogre, or Wolf (which ever are available) at the entrance on each of Zargon's turns. The Heroes can fight past, or look for another exit.
- B Both Fimir in this room are shape changers. Shuffle the Monster card deck. Each time one is killed draw a card to see what it changes into, then return the card and re-shuffle. If the same Monster is drawn twice in a row the shape changer is dead.
- C Searching for secret doors or treasure reveals a loose floor tile, beneath the floor tile is a Genie Spell Scroll.
- D These doors are locked and require a key to open them. They may be alternatively opened with a Genie spell.
- E The Heroes need to climb the stairs (by getting on at the bottom of the steps, and getting off on the second landing, (getting on and off is done at the tile marked with an arrow).
- F From the tile labeled X there is a window which looks directly into the center tower. The Heroes may attempt to jump from one window to another by attempting a pit jump. If they miss they will fall into in the courtyard below and suffer 3 combat dice damage.
- G These creatures are the new masters of Borden Khume, and will attack any who enter the room. If a Hero searches for treasure before the trapped chest is disarmed six darts will shoot out of the fireplace hitting the shaded tiles in the center of the room, inflicting 3 combat dice each. Each chest contains 100 gold coins, and a Potion of Healing which will restore 2 Body Points when consumed.
- H This chest contains an old key, to be used on doors marked D.
- I These rooms are linked by the trap doors.

Wandering Monster in this Quest: 1 Fimir and 1 Goblin

NOTES continued:

- J This is a hidden entrance/exit from the courtyard. The Heroes may exit from here.
- K This room contains an ancient magical forge whose coals are still warm. Searching for treasure will reveal the second Orc's Bane Artifact behind the weapons rack.

NOTES continued:

- will begin crumbling. Any Heroes in the room must escape by moving immediately through the first entrance to the room, or through the secret door. There will be no time to open the door to the next room.
- E This door leads to the entrance door on the next Quest map.
 - F This is a cursed Gargoyle. It has the same stats as a regular Gargoyle, but needs only roll a single black shield to defend all skulls rolled against it!
 - G These Orcs are armed with Longswords and Shields, and old Helmets. They may attack diagonally and have two additional Defend die. The swords and shields are shoddy and of no use to the Heroes.
 - H These Orcs are armed with Crossbows, however, they are too shoddy for Heroes to use.
 - I On the tile marked XX in this room is the Orc Warlord Korg, use the Orc with the large notched sword to represent him. His stats are:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
8	4	5	5	4

His large Longsword allows him to attack diagonally. The following describes the treasure chests in this room:

 - 1 This chest contains 240 gold coins.
 - 2 This chest is trapped with an exploding lock. If a Hero searches for treasure before the trap is disarmed, he will lose 3 Body Points. The chest contains a Heal Body Spell Scroll, and a Chaos Spell Scroll, Restore Chaos. Note: The spell description for Restore Chaos is correct, it may only be cast on Monsters! The Heroes, however, may use the spell scroll on a Monster in the normal way, as such, they should keep this scroll.
 - 3 This chest contains dust and old bones. One full turn after opening the chest a Skeleton will emerge. Place the Skeleton next to the treasure chest. It may move and attack normally on Zargon's turn.

- J This Chaos Warrior (a Death Knight) is made of the same armor as the one in room C of Quest 2. Read aloud the following text: "This suit of armor is covered in strange runes and markings." It is described on the Monster Chart. When the Death Knight is defeated read aloud the following text: "As you finish off the evil being the armor cracks and crumbles into dust revealing the suit of armor was empty... thin wisps of smoke begin to rise from the ashes." Replace the dead Death Knight with a Death Mist tile. This Death Mist may only move 2 square per turn. In this form it will also attack any Orcs nearby first before Heroes!!
- K This room contains Gullock, a powerful Orc Necromancer. His stats are as follows:

MOVEMENT	ATTACK	DEFEND	BODY	MIND
8	2	4	5	7

He may only attack once per turn but may cast two spells per turn. He knows the following Chaos Spells: Summon Orcs, Summon Undead, Reanimation, Cloud of Chaos, Tempest, Soothe, Sharpen Blades, Shield of Protection, Mind Freeze, and Mind Blast. The first Hero to search for treasure will find a Heal Body Spell Scroll, and a map. When the Heroes find the map read aloud the following text: "This is a map of the surrounding area of the World Edge Mountains – with the names of a dozen Orc and several Goblin Clans written on it. It looks as though these are clans who have joined forces with the Black Orcs."

Quest 6

Beyond the Waterfall

Traveling through this area of the World Edge Mountains has been treacherous and slow-going. As your numbers are relatively small compared to the enemy the group has had to take cover to evade the enemy several times, and it will be another day at least before you reach the base of the summit. Sir Orrick's Scouts have observed many Orcs coming and going from a sparsely wooded area near by, however. It appears the Orcs have some sort of hideout behind a waterfall, although it is difficult to tell just how large it is, or how many Orcs may be within. Sir Orrick tells you that four of his men will accompany you inside, while himself, Lord Castanea, and the remaining troops will take cover further down the mountain where they will be well out of sight in case more Orcs return.

NOTES:

The Heroes are accompanied by a Scout, a Halberdier, a Crossbowman, and one other Man-at-Arms of the Player's choice. The Heroes may choose to divide control of these units up evenly amongst themselves. The Heroes and Men-at-Arms do not regain body points or Spells between map sections, only after completing the second area.

At-Arms with 7 or fewer movement attempts to swim through it will take 2 turns to pass through. At the start of their second turn they should roll one combat die and apply any skulls rolled as damage. They may then emerge from the passage on the other side and resume their turn as usual. A unit may pass through in one direction per turn, those stuck in the passage on their turn must continue through.

A The four Heroes and Men-at-Arms begin here. If any Warchiefs were saved in Quest 5 remove an Orc and Goblin from each room.

C Refer to the description for room B. The corresponding room is labeled C on the next Quest map.

B This room contains a pool of water. Searching for secret doors reveals a passage just below the water's surface. A unit wishing to pass through may make not take any other actions, or move to other tiles on their turn. They must begin their turn standing on the tile marked X and declare they are going to attempt to swim through the passage. Heroes must roll 2 red dice to move, as usual. If they roll an 8 or higher they will emerge on tile X in room B on the following Quest map. If they roll a 7 or below, or if one of the Men-

D As soon as a Hero opens the door read aloud the following text "It looks as though the Black Orc is in charge of this group of Goblins. They were just working on constructing a chariot of some sort. The Black Orc growls at them to take up arms and attack." The Black Orc will open the secret door behind him and move to the next room immediately. Each of the Goblins are now armed with spears! When the first Hero enters the room he will hear a grinding noise above his head. After any two units take their turn the ceiling
