

Hey folks!

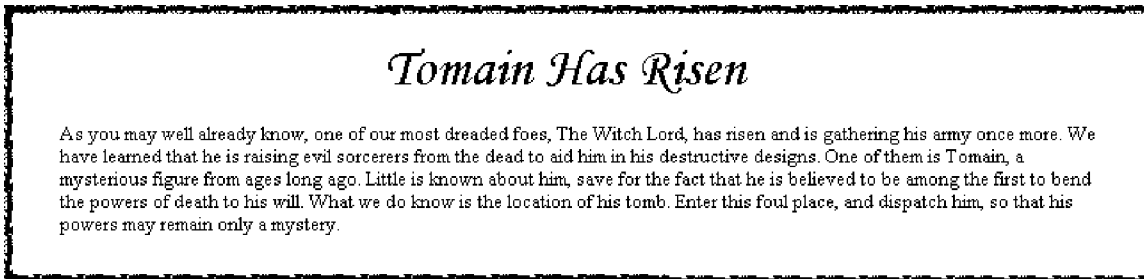

Here are some quests that I made using paint, and my scanner. They may be a little easy, but of course they can easily be modified. I have included the "parchment text" as a different file. I like to print the map, then print the parchment on the back. I also included a blank map so you can use your favorite graphic utility to cut and paste your own quests.

If you like them, let me know as I have more. If you don't like them, you may send me hate mail.

Quest On!!!

As you may well already know, one of our most dreaded foes, The Witch Lord, has risen and is gathering his army once more. We have learned that he is raising evil sorcerers from the dead to aid him in his destructive designs. One of them is Tomain, a mysterious figure from ages long ago. Little is known about him, save for the fact that he is believed to be among the first to bend the powers of death to his will. What we do know is the location of his tomb. Enter this foul place, and dispatch him, so that his powers may remain only a mystery.

Tomain: Move - 5    Attack - 3    Defend - 6    Body - 5    Mind - 10
